Sue Frantz is in her third decade in the psychology college classroom. She is the 2018 President of the Society for the Teaching of Psychology, and was the inaugural recipient of the APA award for Excellence in the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning at a Two-Year College or Campus. She also received the prestigious Charles L. Brewer Distinguished Teaching of Psychology Award in 2016. She presents nationally and internationally on the topics of educational technology and innovative pedagogy, particularly in psychology.

Join us to learn how Professor Frantz uses her classroom to put students in charge of their own learning!

Partial funding for this event has been provided by the College of Arts and Sciences thanks to the generous support of the President's Advisory Group members.
