

Marc Standig graduated Emory University's Goizueta Business School with a Masters of Business Administration. He then worked briefly for a small accounting firm in Decatur, Georgia. After leaving the accounting firm, he assumed the role of Assistant Controller then Controller of Citizens Jewelry of Atlanta, Georgia; a division of Gordon's Jewelry and now part of Zale's. Prior to leaving Citizens Jewelry, Marc earned his Certified Management Accountant designation. Upon leaving Citizens Jewelry, he moved back to New Jersey worked with his father's business and started preparing income tax returns, part time, with Household Finance Corporation's Princeton, Mercerville and Trenton offices. In 1986, Marc sat for the Special Enrollment Examination and earned his Enrolled Agent credential. Household Finance sold off its tax business and Marc started preparing tax returns with a few small accounting firms and took on private clients. Within a few years he was able to establish his office in Monroe Township, Middlesex County. Marc's practice consists primarily of individual 1040 tax returns with a smattering of Forms 1041, 709 and 990 as well. He has been engaged in representing taxpayers who have an assortment of tax resolution issues that include Employee Classification, 1040 Examination and Collection issues. He has instructed an assortment of tax and finance community education programs at Mercer County Community College and Brookdale Community College. From 2010 through 2013 Marc created and instructed an Enrolled Agents course at Brookdale Community College. Marc Standig, EA maintains memberships in the National Association of Enrolled Agents (NAEA) and the National Association of Tax Professionals. He had completed the NAEA's National Tax Practice Institute™. Marc has served on the boards of both the New Jersey Society of Enrolled Agents and the New Jersey Chapter of the National Association of Tax Professionals (NJ-NATP). Marc also served as Editor of the NJ-NATP newsletter from mid-2015 through mid-2017 and he also headed NJ-NATP's Community Betterment initiative for several years. He has also helped with the Working Together Committee and Stakeholder Liaison Committee. When he's not involved in tax issues, Marc had been active with several volunteer organizations. In the 1990's he was the treasurer of Habitat for Humanity Millstone Basin Area. More recently Marc had been an Assistant Scoutmaster and is a Merit Badge Counselor volunteer. He's helped a lot of scouts achieve their Eagle. In 2013 Marc started working on a project that eventually put the legislation in place that would enable New Jersey taxpayers to make charitable donations to the Boy Scouts on the NJ-1040. The project became New Jersey Assembly Bill A-2221 and was signed into law in July of 2017
