The senate secretary, Mary Ellen Roberts, sent the FDC one question survey out to the body. The survey asked:

If you have experienced challenges associated with compensating undergraduates supporting your research or grants, please share examples here.

- 40 people clicked on the link.
- 11 people entered text in response to the questions

Responses focused on the following central point:

- The need for a structure and process to help undergraduates and faculty collaborate, with compensation, on research.

The next step is to reach out to Dr. Peter Shoemaker to arrange a meeting. He agreed to this, including a representative from financial aid once we had some specifics to share. Dr. May will follow up with him regarding a meeting.

Respectfully submitted,
Grace May
