

COURSE DIRECTOR

Ashish Jha

Harvard School of Public Health

EXPERTS

Agnes Binagwaho

Minister of Health, Rwanda

David Bates

Harvard Medical School

T.S. Ravi Kumar

CEO, JIPMER Hospital (India)

Jishnu Das

Lead Economist, World Bank

Allen Kachalia

Harvard Medical School

Rafaella Sadun

Harvard Business School

Julia Adler-Milstein

University of Michigan

Ronen Rozenblum

Harvard Medical School

Felix Greaves

Imperial College (London)

Maureen Bisognano

CEO, Institute for Healthcare Improvement (IHI)

Julio Frenk

Former Minister of Health, Mexico;

Dean, Harvard School of Public Health

HarvardX Improving Global Health: Focusing on Quality & Safety

Access to healthcare services is critical – but is it enough?

Healthcare is meant to heal and comfort those who are sick. Yet, too often, it fails to deliver on this promise. In order for healthcare to improve the health of the population, it must be safe, effective, and patient-centered. So, we launch PH555X: Improving Global Health: Focusing on Quality and Safety. Because we don't just need access to more care. We need access to better care.

launch: June 2nd // dates: June – July // course: ph555x // sign up here!

