

THE JEWISH-CHRISTIAN STUDIES GRADUATE PROGRAM

Eliminating prejudice through understanding since 1975

Poles and Jews during World War II

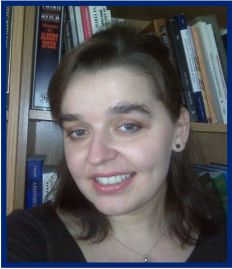

Rev. Dennis McManus, Ph.D.

Professor of Liturgy, Saint John's Seminary

Professor, Program for Jewish Civilization, Georgetown University

Director, Jan Karski Institute for Holocaust and Genocide Studies

Consultant for Jewish Affairs, U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops

Monika Rice, M.A.

Ph.D. Candidate, Brandeis University

Doctoral Dissertation, "First Encounters of Jewish Survivors with their Former Polish Neighbors in Post-War Accounts"

The Jewish-Christian Studies Graduate Program is sponsoring the study day, "Poles and Jews during World War II." Scholars, the Reverend Dennis McManus and Ms. Monika Rice, will offer the presentations, "The Holocaust: Its Destructive Past and Its Dangerous Future" and "Poles and Jews during the War."

Application of lessons from this dark period of European history will include two workshops and discussions of the heroic witness of the Polish courier, Jan Karski, and the tragic event in Jedwabne when Jews were killed by their neighbors.

The program is an accredited service provider in the State of New Jersey. A $10 registration fee, payable on site, includes lunch and materials. Please register by March 10, 2014 by contacting Lawrence Frizzell at lawrence.frizzell@shu.edu or (973) 761-9751.
